

USE OF MULTI-SPECIFIC, NON-COVALENT COMPLEXES FOR TARGETED DELIVERY OF THERAPEUTICS

Abstract

The invention relates to a method for treating target cells, tissues or pathogens in a subject, comprising administering a non-covalently bound complex which comprises a multispecific targeting protein and a hapten-enzyme covalent conjugate. The invention further relates to kits comprising the non-covalently bound complex or the components to prepare the complex.